ABOUT THIS BOOK

This manual was initiated by the Association Rudolf Steiner Schools of Australia (RSSA) in response to a steady stream of requests for assistance from its member schools.

Requests for guidance on the Steiner curriculum and methods of teaching come from newer schools, particularly those in isolated areas; schools of all ages and sizes request help with preparing their curriculum documentation for the purposes of School Registration.

Meeting registration requirements is becoming increasingly complex as States focus on Learning Outcomes, and some in particular require detailed cross-referencing between the school's Steiner curriculum and the State curriculum or syllabus. The challenge schools face in "serving two masters" (Steiner and State) has become a central theme of the book.

Who can benefit from this book?

- Teachers and teachers and teacher trainees
- Those preparing curriculum documentation
- Educational administrators and College members who develop procedures and train others in lesson programming
- School Board / Council members and administrative staff
- Interested parents and home-schoolers
- Parts of the manual may be suitable as an introduction for those outside Steiner schools seeking an understanding of Steiner education, eg education authorities.
